

SB Meetings Major Topic For Senate

By Nolan Cramer

Senate agenda headlines for Monday evening's meeting show the Student Body meeting question to be the main issue to be discussed.

A recommendation regarding the traffic program on campus will be presented to the Senate. Other proposals will also be considered.

With an informal poll concerning Campus Chest taken at the Student Body meeting, the matter will be brought before the Senate Monday. It will decide whether or not a vote should be taken by the students to have a Campus Chest.

Discussion Set

Philosophy of student government at Wartburg will be presented to the senate in four phases for discussion. They are: Student Body meetings, representation, powers of student government and powers denied student government.

In connection with Student Body meeting problems, a panel will be held over KWAR-FM Wednesday evening at 8.

In student government action last week, a sophomore class meeting was held Thursday evening. Shirley Ehlert was elected as student senate representative, replacing Marilyn Nissen.

Council Meets

Student Union Council members met Tuesday. Main issues acted upon at the meeting were an appropriation of $25 a month to be used for the purchase of records for the Hi-Fi music system in the Union. Record finances will be taken from Student Union dues. Several national record companies have been contacted in regard to purchase of records.

The problem of playing the type of music students enjoy hearing on the SMU Hi-Fi was presented to the council. Further action to help solve the problem is expected to be taken.

Replacement of a number of pieces of furniture in the SMU Lounge is expected to be completed before Homecoming.

Members Listed

Members of the Student Union Council are faculty advisers Raymond Norheim, history department; Robert Campbell, physical education; Robert Smith, speech department; Melvin Kramer, business administration head. Student members are: juniors Dick Chellevold, Gil Wessel, Helen Mueller; senior members, Nancy Mista, Phil Moeller and Erwin Jansen.

A special election will be held in convo Tuesday to select the Wartburg students who will be candidates for the Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities directory. Selections will be made from a total of 56 choices.

Faculty Giving

Wartburg faculty is participating in the Waverly Community Chest Drive being conducted at this time. So far 51 people have pledged a total amount of $414.50. All organizations and businesses are contacted before the actual house to house campaign begins.

Homecoming To Feature Varied Fare

HOMEcoming is the major topic on the minds of these committee members as Duane Matz, novelties; Norm Braatz, publicity; and Jim Schwarz, general chairman, discuss plans for the celebration.

Play Cast Listed For 'Hasty Heart'

By Paul Ahrens

Tryouts for the fall play, "The Hasty Heart," have been completed. All roles have been filled with the exception of two men's parts.

Results, as announced by Vernon Lestrud, Speech Department, Thursday, are Jack Horner, freshman, playing the part of the Orderly; Arlo Bice, junior, that of the Yank; Bruce Bergquist, freshman, Kiwi; Gerald Meyer, senior, Digger; John Werner, senior, Colonel; Dick Ferries, sophomore, Lochlen; and Joan Pape, junior, Margaret.

Tommy and Blossom are the parts that remain to be cast. Kathryn Koob, sophomore, is the company manager; Roger Zehr, sophomore, the stage manager; and Dave Seifert, junior, electrician.

'Well Pleased'

"I was very pleased with the tryouts," said Lestrud. "There were about twenty people in all who tried out. I would like to encourage anyone else interested in the remaining two men's parts to try out. The part of Tommy is a good one with a lot of lines. The part of the Negro, Blossom, is a small one with no speaking lines."

"The Hasty Heart" by John Patrick, author of "The Curious Savage" and "Teahouse of the August Moon," is the story of a wounded Scotch soldier. His last few weeks of life, spent in a convalescent ward of an Oriental hospital, are changed by the attitude taken toward him.

Good Over Bad

The man's extreme independence of spirit nearly wrecks the good intentions of those who want to make him happy. At last, particularly after he falls in love with the nurse, he learns the great lesson of brotherly love toward his neighbor.

This play has been produced on Broadway and has been made into a motion picture starring Richard Todd.

Rehearsals will begin Oct. 8, and the production dates are Nov. 7, 8 and 9.

Action-Packed Weekend Planned For Oct. 25-27

By Norm Braatz

As the trees on the Wartburg campus once again resume their gay autumn colors, thoughts of students are turning to Homecoming. This year's three-day event under the theme "Pathways to Peace" will be held Oct. 25-27.

Kickoff for Homecoming weekend will be the annual Kastle Kapers variety show. Kapers director, Bob Loslo, has chosen "Around the World in Eighty Minutes" for the show's theme. Following Kastle Kapers, a bonfire and pep rally will be held on North Field.

Activities planned for Homecoming Saturday include the parade, football game, banquet, dance and alumni activities. In addition to the many floats, the Saturday morning parade will also feature several outside bands. Something new for the parade will be a reviewing stand from which the queen and important guests will view the parade.

Houses Open

Open House will be held in all dormitories and several housing units on Saturday morning. Judging of the rooms will begin at 8:30 Saturday morning, with six prizes being offered for first-place winners in addition to nine ribbons for honorable mention awards. Rooms will be judged on the basis of cleanliness, conduciveness to study and other features.

On Saturday afternoon the Knights will meet the Dubuque Spartans in Knights Stadium. The victory cry, chosen by the Homecoming Committee, will be "Spear the Spartans." A half-time demonstration by the Wartburg Band and several other local bands is being planned by Wartburg Band director, Ernest Hagen.

The 1957 Homecoming Queen will also be crowned during halftime ceremonies by last year's queen, Irma Niederwimmer. Queen elections will be held during the week preceding Homecoming with all senior girls eligible for election. Junior girls are eligible for election to the Court of Honor.

Adix Speaker

The Rev. Herold Adix, Deputy Executive Secretary of the Board of American Missions of the American Lutheran Church, will be the speaker for the Homecoming Banquet at St. Paul's Parish House, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Saturday. Tickets will go on sale next week, according to the banquet chairman, Lois Huth, junior.

Following the banquet, the Homecoming dance, a new feature on the program, will be held in Knights Gymnasium. Jack Otts' band of Des Moines has been contracted for the semi-formal dance, to be held following the parents reception Saturday evening. Parents will be invited to remain as guests at the dance.

Special events are planned for Homecoming Sunday including church services, open house, queen's reception, dorm dedication and Artist Series.

Church Planned

Dr. A. H. Ewald, newly elected president of Wartburg Seminary, will address students at both the 8 and 10:45 a.m. services at St. Paul's Church. Dr. William L. Young, Executive Secretary of the Board of Higher Education of the ALC, will speak at the 9 a.m. Bible Discussion Groups.

Dedication of the new wing of Centennial Hall at 2 p.m. will be followed by the Queen's Reception in the Centennial Hall Lounge. Dr. Young will also speak at the dorm wing dedication. Open house in all housing units is another feature planned for Sunday afternoon.

The opening 1957 Artist Series number will conclude the Homecoming weekend. Norman Corwin's "The Rivalry" is expected to be a top series presentation of the year. The drama stars Raymond Massey, Agnes Moorehead and Martin Gabel. This dramatic presentation commemorates the 100th anniversary of the Lincoln-Douglas debates and is based on that story.

Get These!

Tickets for the first Artist Series will be available in the treasurer's office beginning Monday, Oct. 14, according to Dr. A. W. Swensen, Artist Series chairman.

First event of the series is Norman Corwin's "The Rivalry," which will be presented Sunday, Oct. 27, at 8 p.m. in Knights Gymnasium. Students must present their activity tickets to obtain reserved seats.

Convos Feature Dean, Meetings

Dean of faculty, Dr. John Chellevold, will address next Tuesday's convocation on the topic "The Liberal Arts College and Academic Life." Dr. Chellevold will discuss local academic life against the general liberal arts background.

Faculty-Student Body meetings will be conducted during convocation hour on Thursday.

Iowa College Foundation Plans Kickoff Dinner

Oct. 8 marks the beginning of the sixth annual Iowa College Foundation drive. Twenty representatives from Wartburg, including students John Adix and Sharon Folkerts, will attend the kickoff dinner at the Hotel Savery, Des Moines. Wilmar Compton, retired president of the Council for Financial Aid to Education, will speak.

The Iowa College Foundation is an association of 19 independent colleges whose purpose is to secure funds from state businesses and industries. Each college receives an equal share of 60 per cent of the funds collected, and the number of full-time students is the basis for dividing the remaining 40 per cent.

A goal of $311,900 has been set for this year. If it is met, Wartburg will receive approximately $20,000. Last year Wartburg's share of the $170,000 contributed by 171 Iowa firms was $11,554.61.

Solicitations are made by teams of college presidents. Advance gifts total $76,900.

Take Up Thy Pen And Write

(Guest editorialist this week is Duane Schroeder, Trumpet managing editor.)

In 1948 Mrs. A. E. Haefner, English Department, decided that the students of Wartburg College needed a magazine which would provide an outlet for the best student writing in the creative field. Thus, Castle Tales was established.

Recently there has been some question as to whether the magazine has ever come up to the standards that it was intended to, and if not, why not. A survey of selected faculty members and students shows that the magazine has lacked the quality that it should have on a campus the size of Wartburg.

Several opinions have been expressed concerning the reason for this failure. All of them have merit. One person said that the rapid turn-over in advisers has made it impossible to set some goals to shoot for and work consistently toward these goals. There have been eight advisers in a 10-year period which includes this year.

Another felt that past editors have not taken their responsibility seriously enough. There has been a tendency to procrastinate until the deadline, and most of the editors have failed to work with contributing writers by helping them to improve and rework their manuscripts.

But all agree that the average student is mainly at fault. There isn't any interest.

Why is apathy towards Castle Tales so great that quality material isn't turned in? The answer to that rests with the individual student. With an enrollment of 850 there must be at least 50 students who have the ability to write a creditable short story, review or poem.

How can this apathy be overcome? The basic need is the creation of a literary atmosphere among the talented students, and this would act as an incentive toward turning out better material. A partial answer to this problem is in the offering. There is, at the present time, a move toward the formation of an informal literary discussion group which would discuss, not only literature, but also works of the students and offer constructive criticism. But in order for this to be a successful venture, there must be cooperation among the students. There is no possible way the goals of this group can be achieved otherwise.

The faculty is included in this project too. A critical atmosphere must be further developed in classes in order to stimulate thinking among the students. If there is no cooperation among members of Wartburg College, the magazine will not improve and might as well be dropped.

Do you, as a member of the college, want to continue to produce a sub-par publication to be read by the constituency of the institution? What kind of an impression does such a magazine leave with outsiders? Think it over, and remember each one of you is being judged when someone picks up a copy of Castle Tales.

Racial Question Demands Positive Christian Stand

By Len Flachman

The unity of our country once more stands on the brink of disaster. Brother has turned upon brother, and race upon race. This is the second time that our government has resorted to the use of the army in an attempt to force man to live with his brother of another race.

Within these United States of America today there is dissension because man does not want to permit his brother to have the freedoms for which our country was established. We see this dissension within a nation that is held up to the world as a Christian nation, a nation that sends out more missionaries than any other country to tell the people of the peace which can be found in Christ Jesus. We, as Christian students, must take our stand; yet, it must be an unprejudiced stand. We cannot remain neutral when man turns against man, race against race and our nation is no longer one in unity but is one of pieces.

We must carefully analyze our position. We must not sit back in smug self-assurance and claim that we have no prejudice, and in so doing exalt ourselves above those that have. For, if this is our position, we are like the Pharisee who prayed, "God, I thank thee that I am not like other men..."

In our self-analysis we must be sure that our position is not one of pride. Pride would exalt us over our Southern white neighbor and we would be committing the same sin against him that we would say he is committing against his black neighbor.

As students we shall, someday, leave this unusual college society and go forth into the cold and heartless world on the outside. Then we shall see if our analysis was sound. Then we shall have to prove that we have no prejudices.

Let us take the example of an average American family in an typical American town. This family welcomes the Negro family which has just moved in across the street even though it knows that the value of property in the home locality is likely to decrease because of the darker neighbors. The Negro children are invited into the home to spend the afternoon and evening the same as are the white friends of the children in the family.

The Negro children are not hurried out the back door when influential white guests come to call. This family accepts its neighbors as divine creations of God. Can we do the same?

Let us look at another profession for which many of us are striving. We, the future ministers and servants of our Lord and Savior, are shocked to learn that the church is the greatest stronghold of segregation in America today. Yet, the church abhors the temporal authorities that uphold segregation in their particular areas.

The minister cannot carry out the command to "go forth and preach the gospel to all nations" but neglect to invite the colored family down the street to the services in his church. The pastor misses his call when he refuses to baptize, instruct and confirm the Negroes along with the whites in his church. Still we claim to be a Christian nation with the church as the nucleus of Christianity.

Though man be pitted against man, race against race, we must remember in our self-analysis that we are all citizens of one great country that was created with the purpose of upholding liberty and justice for all. And above all, we are members of Christ's universal church, which expects us to treat all men as our equals, whether they be black, red, yellow or white.

Sword Points

By The Staff

SOMETHING OUGHT to be done about professors' pay at college. It's a shame when one prof even has to go through the union's wastebaskets.

DEFINITION of the fad-starter: The first with the worst.

ONE STUDENT is wondering how much student government means on campus. Seems he called the Den trying to get connected to the Student Body President in the senate office. Said the counter girl in the Den, "Well, what's his name?"

VICTOR: I think I'll call a girl and ask her for a date for the game Saturday. Operator, give me the Wartburg exchange... I don't know the number; they didn't put it on the sheet... 1404? ... O.K., I'll write it on the sheet... yes, please ring it. "Wartburg exchange? ... give me the number of Centennial Hall... 247. All right, I'll wait. You say that number hasn't been put on the Wartburg Exchange yet? Well, how do I get Centennial Hall? ... Call the Waverly operator? Well, call her for me, will you? ... Oh, I have to hang up and call again. "Operator, give me 1137. No, the Wartburg operator told me it hasn't been put on that exchange yet. You'll ring it? ... Good.

"Centennial Hall? ... I'd like to speak to Miss Gay Knightie. You'll see if she's in? ... Oh, never mind now — I've lost my nerve."

Such (or a reasonable facsimile) was the conversation that went on last Saturday when an off-campus fellow tried to call a girl for a date. Girls, if your social life has been dropping off lately, I think I know the reason.

After reading a fabliau from Canterbury Tales in my Chaucer class, I have come to the opinion that Mickey Spillane is pretty tame. Now, I suppose everybody will be trying to enroll for that course next year.

Speaking of new courses, everybody seems to have neglected his regular courses to enroll in a new one called "Theory of Baseball." The instructors are the New York Yankees and the Boston Braves. What's that, Harold? You say the Braves aren't in Boston any more?

I'm not opposed to Milwaukee, sports fans. But it's nice to know that the Wisconsinites flew the Milwaukee pennant BELOW the American flag on the flagpole, when their team ended the season on top.

The Onie cards have been receiving a personal touch lately. Last week some of them said, "Just a reminder, today is Wednesday." They were, of course, for the students who have been resorting to the Iowa Conference look on dress-up night.

Members of Alpha Phi Gamma are pleased with the new phone system. Everybody just about has to buy one of APG's student directories to figure out what's going on. Personally, I'm buying a dozen carrier pigeons.

OK, Governor Faubus — Don't Draw That Gun

By Robert Mayer

In recent weeks news has been filled with reports of the "crisis" in Little Rock — the great segregation problem which is facing the South today. Brought to the fore by the sensation of Governor Faubus calling of the National Guard and President Eisenhower's momentous dispatch of Federal troops to Arkansas, integration has made headlines, but little progress.

To be sure, Negro children are now attending the white school in Little Rock without hindrance or incident; but then, who will argue with bayonets, loaded guns and riot squads?

The rather extreme turn which events have taken have created basic changes in the problem itself, broadening it considerably to include issues even of state's rights and subversion of the individual. The question now remains unanswered regarding to just what extent can the Federal Government legally force integration, and to what limits will the South proceed in avoiding or rejecting it?

Governor Faubus reportedly intends to call a special state legislature to close public schools, stop all grants and create a system of private schools in which integration could be forced by no one — even the Federal government. Is this, then, the end to which Federal troops in Little Rock are pushing us?

It is a reflection not only upon certain stubborn parents in Arkansas, but upon every American citizen who has made possible the neglect of this problem until the final necessity of crisis. Let us make no mistake — the position in Little Rock is far more than transitory growing pains. It is an ultimate test of a sane democracy.

If we cannot, under our constitution, create stability capable of overcoming such difficulties, then we have small right to give answer to grave doubts which possess the world elsewhere.

Perhaps in the coming meeting of the President with representative governors some solution can be reached which will show more than the ordinary weak compromise — a solution which can in some way heal the festering sores of hate which possess so many.

'Cry Slaughter' By Wartburg's Tiempo Tells Story Of Philippines During War

By Duane Schroeder

Wartburg College is fast becoming a haven for writers.

Dr. E. K. Tiempo, English Department, has had a novel, "Cry Slaughter," published in the United States and has had 35 to 40 short stories appear in Filipino magazines. Some of the short stories will be reprinted in an anthology being prepared by the Macmillan Publishing Co.

"Cry Slaughter!" first came out as a hard-cover volume in the Philippines and was republished here as a paperback by the Avon Publishing Co.

A psychological novel, the book is the study of a young minister who kills four Japanese envoys without provocation. To him they embody all that is evil, and "jungle justice" catches Cortes up in its web as he tries single-handedly to wipe out those symbols.

After the incident he feels remorse for what he has done and offers to give himself up to the Japanese, who will shoot him. His escape from a premature death, his feelings of uncertainty and rationalization and finally his realization that there are some things that have to be done whether one likes it or not make intense reading.

The vehicle for carrying the psychological conflict within Cortes is the battle of the Philippine guerillas in World War II after the fall of Bataan. Though incidental to the main theme of the story, the gallant stand of a people, oppressed for many years, is stirring and cries for recognition.

Tiempo heard about the incident of the minister through a friend of his, the librarian of Silliman University where the by MacArthur in the Japanese War Trials. Many details concerning the atrocities of the Japs were drawn from this work and inserted in "Cry Slaughter!"

At the present time he is finishing another novel, which he hopes to leave with his agent before going back to the Philippines. After completing this book in December, he plans immediately to start another novel.

He and his wife were among the first to write in English in the islands, and they have no trouble selling there. His wife, Edith, has had several short stories and one novel published there in serial form. The "Western Review" has carried several of her poems. Both feel that the Philippines are infants in literature.

"However, we have a few outstanding writers. Probably the greatest was Jose Rigal, a national hero, who was executed by the Spanish when they held our country," Tiempo said. "His two novels, 'The Social Cancer' and 'The Reign of Greed,' were attacks against their regime."

Perhaps Dr. Tiempo and his wife will help the Philippines grow from infancy to adolescence.

Novelist Tiempo

novelist is chairman of the English Department. The shooting was well-known in the islands, since it was the greatest piece of news since the fall of Bataan. After getting information from the relatives of Cortes, Tiempo wrote the book, and it was smuggled out of the islands in a submarine.

Previously, Tiempo prepared a historical work, "They Called Us Outlaws," which was used

Fall Senior Day Set For Nov. 9

Two services designed primarily for high school students and formerly held at different times and places will be presented simultaneously this year at Wartburg. The annual fall senior day will be combined with prospective teacher day, Nov. 9.

Let's Meet Friends

By Kathi

Hi!

Let's face it. This isn't the time of year or the weather that lends itself to studying. In fact, it doesn't lend itself to column writing either, but . . . I have found quite a few legal ways to get out of the studying part.

The merger of our church with several other Lutheran church bodies has been in the theory form for such a long time that many of us don't think seriously about it. However, the merger will be in the not distant future, and we are going to be affected by it. How will we be affected?

That's what you will find out at Phebes meeting this Sunday. The meeting, to be held in the Faculty Lounge of Luther Hall at 1:30, will feature a talk on this subject by Dr. William Schmidt. A discussion will follow. Virginia Grimm, president, assures me that you don't have to be a future parish worker to come to the meetings.

Are you a shutter-bug or a camera fiend? If so, here is your item: The Camera Club meets Thursday at 7:15. That's Luther Hall, 203. I have an idea that you would be welcome even if you don't know anything about cameras (like me). One of the purposes of the club is to instruct in the use of the common box camera. So you see that you don't have to be an expert to join—just interested and willing to learn.

Here is an international note: "The Adventures of a Chinese in Germany" will be the featured program at Hans Sachs Tuesday. Charlie Chen, junior, will tell some of his experiences as a student at the University of Munich, Germany. Sounds OK to me. That's at 7:30 in Room 100, Old Main.

Monday evening will find the members of the Business Students Association learning of the opportunities in banking as a career for the young college graduate. John Pardun of the First National Bank of Waverly will be the speaker. That is at 7 p.m. in Fuchs Lounge.

Erv Janssen, senior, will have as his executive committee for American Chemical Society, Herman Hein, vice president, Barbara Bradle, secretary, and Dick Chelievold, treasurer. All are juniors. Bruce Friedrich, senior, is the publications chairman.

Wartburg Players also elected their leads for the year. Bill Melvin, senior, will take over in the absence of President Louis Becker, junior. Kathryn Koob, sophomore, is secretary, and Jon Tehven, senior, will take care of all the money which Jon says they haven't got.

That's thirty for this week. I'll see you soon with more about where to meet friends.

Singers Planning Comedy For Tour Presentation

Shades of Rodgers and Hammerstein? Castle Singers, under the direction of Dr. E. A. Hovdesven, will present a musical comedy on its tour this year.

Written by Hovdesven, the fantasy's theme will be based around the north woods. Chiciwahwah, a small resort town, is the scene of the show.

Doc Author

Dr. Hovdesven wrote the entire two-act script, including fourteen original songs. John Werner, senior, will direct the musical, which will be shown at Wartburg. The date of the production is unknown.

Others are Robert Current, senior, stage manager; Dave Siefert, junior, lighting; Janice Huggans, sophomore, piano accompanist; and Mrs. Norman Johansen, choreography.

Castle Singers' tour will cover Minnesota and Wisconsin during March and April. Dave Nelson and Emil Blobaum, junior, tour managers, are lining up stops.

X-Ray Unit Here

A mobile X-ray unit will be in front of Luther Hall Monday morning, Oct. 14, from 8-11:30. This service is primarily for the faculty and staff, but seniors are invited to take part.

Meeting Set For Welfare

Lutheran Welfare's fifth Annual Workshop will convene at St. Paul's Parish House Tuesday, Oct. 8, from 4 to 9 p.m. Sociology, psychology, social work and pre-theological students are especially encouraged to attend, according to advance publicity.

Registration, for which there is no fee, will begin at 4 p.m. and continue until 4:30, at which time Dr. W. F. Schmidt of St. Paul's will lead devotions. "The Deep Well," a film produced by the Child Welfare League of America will be introduced by the Rev. Melvin Bucka, director of the Lutheran Children's Home, Waverly.

WITH MANY GROANS

Profs Do Research, Writing

By Linda Mugridge

Whenever term paper time rolls around, groans of creative despair tag after it as sure as dogs tag after cafeteria-bound students. The term paper that mushrooms into a doctoral dissertation is also the recipient of its share of groans, which differ from the ordinary variety only in length.

Five members of the Wartburg faculty are presently in the thesis-writing stage of their work for doctoral degrees. They are Axel Bundgaard, associate professor of physical education; Mrs. Lola Reppert, assistant professor of social work; the Rev. Karl Schmidt and the Rev. Edwin Schick, assistant professors of Christianity; and Ronald A. Ryder, instructor of biology.

Nearest to completion is Bundgaard, who hopes to receive his degree from the University of Iowa this February. The subject of his dissertation is "Physical Education for Boys in Selected Iowa Public High Schools." Bundgaard's paper is one of a series of doctoral theses dealing with Iowa school curriculum.

Road Hog

Over 9,300 miles rolled beneath the wheels of Bundgaard's automobile between the middle of March and the end of May, 1957. Wartburg students who have eight o'clock classes may grumble about getting up, but they aren't faced with the problem of commuting 150 miles to their classroom, as Bundgaard sometimes has been. Data concerning testing programs, teacher training, etc., was gathered by visits to 72 high schools and interviews with 77 teachers.

"I was pretty enthused when I started, but I sure got sick and tired of it," was Bundgaard's remark about his data gathering.

Mrs. Reppert

Bundgaard, who graduated from Midland College and received his master's degree from the University of Michigan, finds that time is his biggest problem in working for his Ph. D. He expressed appreciation to the Wartburg administration for giving him the opportunity to complete his survey work.

"Intake Process: Social Diagnosis and Choice of Treatment" is the title of Mrs. Reppert's dissertation. Frames of reference used for explaining behavior, methods and diagnosis.

Tempus Fugit

"Time!"

This answer, also given by Mrs. Reppert in reply to questioning about her particular dissertation problems, expresses the main difficulty facing the thesis writers. Mrs. Reppert, who did literary research, has completed her rough draft. She is working out of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., where she earned her master's degree. Mrs. Reppert holds a B. A. from Grinnell College.

sis as a logical process are presented in the paper.

A third advocate of time as the principal bugaboo is the Rev. Mr. Schmidt, who hopes to spend this summer at the State University of Iowa in order to progress with his dissertation. He is an alumnus of both Wartburg College and Wartburg Seminary.

'Eros or Agape?'

Schmidt stated that he had always been interested in his dissertation topic, "The Concept of Love in Present-day Christian Theology." Its subtitle is "Is there a possible rapprochement between Eros and Agape?"

Another member of the Christianity Department, the Rev. Mr. Schick, has chosen "Eschatological Time in the Gospel of Mark" as his topic. The study coordinates events in redemptive history, which are the self-communication of God, to eschatology, or the way the Bible relates these events to the fulfillment of God's purpose. In both events and eschatology there is a specialized understanding of time, and this understanding is the basis for the paper.

Schick, when asked what bothered him most in writing his dissertation, said, "Lack of motivation."

He hopes to complete his work by the spring of 1959. Holding degrees from Wartburg College, Wartburg Seminary and Princeton Seminary, he is writing his doctoral thesis under the auspices of the Princeton Seminary.

Ryder Writing

Completing Wartburg's quintet of thesis writers is Ronald A. Ryder, who has a B. S. and an M. S. from Colorado State University. Ryder, who gathered his data during two six-month periods in the field at Ogden Bay Refuge, Utah, hopes to earn his Ph. D. from Utah State University this June.

Schmidt

The title of Ryder's paper, "A Study of Coot-Waterfowl Relationships in Northern Utah," indicates the type of specialized research required. The setting up of study areas and observation of 250 nests while living on the refuge itself were methods employed by Ryder to determine the actual effect of the coot on game ducks.

In addition to his field work, Ryder sent questionnaires to managers of game refuges. Photographs taken by Ryder through the use of a telephoto lens will illustrate the dissertation. Incidentally, he will give a talk and show slides on this study at the Beta Beta Beta meeting Oct. 9.

Ryder

Mosquitoes Too

Although time is elusive, the villains in Ryder's study seemed just as elusive. The jaded appetites of the mosquito population in Ogden Bay Refuge were stimulated by Ryder's presence.

In the not-too-distant future these five faculty members hope to have the title of Doctor prefixed to their names. At the present time, however, groans from dissertation growing pains are the rule rather than the exception.

Campus Number Game? Nope — Just Dial Phones

By Marsha Starck

It's new! It's different! It's improved! No, it isn't a new kind of soap or cigarette—it's Wartburg's newly installed telephone system.

In operation since last Saturday, the PBX board has brought with it quite a few comments (good and bad) and interesting human-interest stories from both students and faculty.

Who? Me Worry?

Peering from behind a student directory, one junior coed said, "Thought I was a college student with some brains, but these instructions are so complicated, I feel about as intelligent as a third grader."

One senior Vollmerite relates a story of some fellow who called South Wing Centennial to ask a girl for a date.

"He got so confused, he finally just gave up."

During Tuesday's convo a faculty member (We won't give his name) said, "Glad I did my dating and courting during the days before the telephone." (Mr. X, we can hardly believe you are that old!)

Keep Calm

Mrs. Karl Schmidt, one of the switchboard operators, looked quite calm and collected behind the PBX board but confessed, "The telephone company instructor left Tuesday, so we have been operating on our own, and it does get rather confusing once in a while. We hope the students will bear with us and learn just how this whole system operates."

"Dates are hard enough to get," quipped a senior coed, "So we hope this new system won't discourage all the fellows."

Office Faster

Carolyn Rogge, business office secretary, said, "We can really get our work done much faster since they put the switchboard in Centennial Hall. Before, we had to keep running just to answer the phone."

Senior Carolyn Joseph, student directory sales chairman, just urged, "Why doesn't everyone buy an Alpha Phi Gamma Student Directory, so they will have all the correct numbers? They just cost 35 cents."

Confusing or not, the telephone has changed the world and the Wartburg campus.

KWAR Announces Schedule

By Betty Meyer

Students moved behind the teachers' desks as Wartburg future educators begin their stint of student teaching in Waverly and other area schools.

Under the direction of Miss Stella Austerud, Education Department, 20 Wartburg students will be student teaching in five Waverly elementary schools for a period of nine weeks.

At Carey Elementary School, Judith Rieniets, sophomore; Donna Sheets, senior; and Donna Camp, sophomore, will be teaching grades one, two and four.

Elementary Listed

Sophomores Jacquelyn Bowers, first grade, and Marilyn Walther, third grade, will be teaching at Lincoln. At West Cedar sophomores Lois Rueber, second grade; Mary Joens, third grade; and Janet Bengston, fourth grade, will be student teaching.

At Irving will be sophomores Shirley Campbell, first grade; Edna Bast, second grade; Carolyn Nolting, third grade; Marjorie Koepnick, fourth grade; Donna Becker, Doris Hipp and Gloria Meyer, fifth grades; and Barbara Voigts, sixth grade, as well as junior Marjorie Clark, sixth grade.

St. Paul's Lutheran School will be host to sophomores Dorothy Aden, first grade; Georgia Mikes, second grade; and Marilyn Hoops, fourth grade.

Music Too

Teaching vocal music at the elementary level in the Waverly schools will be Ruth Weideler, Sharon Folkerts, Anne Fischer and Sharon Jacobsen.

A total of 31 Wartburg seniors are presently student teaching at the secondary level under the supervision of Dr. Herbert Max, head of the Education Department.

At Waverly High are Arnold Brandt, wrestling; Roger Klingman, Ralph Wolken, Barry Kline and Wendell Wilharm, boys' P. E.; Fred Jaspers, coaching; Esther Brinkman, home economics; Alvin Danielson and Andrew Foster, general science; John Werner, speech; Wayne Venter and Mary Buss, algebra; and Harvey Groskreutz, physics.

More At High

Others student teaching at Waverly High are Thomas Jensen and Dean Anderson, biology; Larry Achorn and James Martin, English; Nancy Mista, girls' P. E.; Darwin Schrage, bookkeeping; Olinda Deines, Patricia Jacob and Ronald Mastin, vocal music; and Darrell Wiedman and Don Hamilton, instrumental.

Teaching at the junior high level are Evon Wick, health; Kay Fritschel, English; and Dorlin Moeller, science, all at Waverly Junior High School.

At Janesville, Leslie Huth is teaching bookkeeping, and Iris Heaney, English. Teaching math at Shell Rock is Eugene Oltrogge.

Tales Looks For Talent

Get out your pencils, paper and cameras! Another Castle Tales contest is about to begin.

Monday, Oct. 7, is the opening date for the annual search for material by the editors of the Wartburg College literary magazine. This year's editor in chief, Larry Achorn, anticipates a "first-class magazine."

Entries may be short stories, critical essays, poetry, sketches or photography. Closing date is Dec. 17. The contest is open to everyone and will be conducted through English classes or individual participation.

Judges will be the editorial staff of the Tales. Winning entries will be published in the annual edition of the magazine and cash prizes awarded by the English Department.

Still Available

Student directories are still available and may be obtained from the bookstore or from the Publications office. Featuring a light blue cover with a picture of the Student Union, these pocket-sized booklets sell for 35 cents.

Picking Up Splinters

By Wilbur Flachman

With the appointment of a new Iowa Conference commissioner coming up soon, it would be in order to point out one of the biggest problems confronting the new head.

His chief concern will be to work toward a uniform pattern in conference athletic facilities. The goal would be to raise the loop standards, so that the Iowa Conference could be placed on a par with other Midwest small college leagues.

After last Saturday's game at Upper Iowa, we bring several gripes to the conference officials.

For a visiting spectator, the Fayette school offers very little. First, a sports spectacle today is almost a total loss without a score and time clock.

Then, the playing conditions at UIU are a definite disadvantage to any football opponent that takes the field against the Peacocks. The lighting was inadequate for a night contest of any type, mostly because the broken bulbs that had popped in the rain during the La Crosse game two weeks ago had not been replaced.

Concerning the playing field, Iowa Conference rules stipulate only that yard markers be visible on both sides of the playing field, and that the grass be not over three inches high. The only markers present Saturday night were on the west side—to the backs of the Wartburg fans—and UIU groundskeepers won't have to worry about wearing out any lawnmowers on that barren turf.

Apparently Iowa Conference officials should set some higher standards in order to add prestige to this league. It takes a lot of class away from college football when athletes find they are playing under conditions that are much poorer than those they were confronted with in high school days.

Certainly it would not be overemphasis for conference heads to set up rules that would benefit students in safety and convenience. They might encourage institutions to channel their athletic subsidies to benefit more students by putting more into their athletic plants.

NOTES—Wartburg's series record with today's opponent, Buena Vista, stands at 9-8-1—Larry Raper, Knights' driving fullback, looks like a definite all-conference candidate, along with guard Arnie Brandt, who is a virtual cinch—Have you noticed the movies being taken at all home games? (See feature, page six.) A Des Moines firm makes it possible for the rolls to be back Monday morning.

A copy of the Cotta House athletic bulletin found its way into my envelope this week. Charlie Maahs, director of the spirited group, began an all-out recruiting program for top junior and senior IM athletes last year, but doesn't yet have things down cold. (The refrigerator subsidy hit a snag.)

Then too, all all-out investigation of the Cotta policy might find the Raiders going via the Woody Hayes route.

Cameras - Up In Sky, Way Up High - Record Games For Coaches, Players

By Stan Vogel
Television? Nope . . . just movies!

From high atop the new press box at Knights Stadium these autumn Saturday afternoons, Wiederanders, Starck and Co. are filming Wartburg's home football games—a new project introduced this season by the Athletic Department.

Utilizing this type of visual aid is not new to the realm of coaching. Many universities have used game movies as a major coaching aid for a number of years and have established extensive systems for obtaining the results desired. But for a college, and especially a school in the Iowa Conference, such a project even in its infant stages is quite an innovation.

Head Coach Norm Johansen termed the films as his "most valuable coaching aid."

"After all," he pointed out, "the coach has the worst seat on the field."

Up In The Air

In direct contrast, Ken Starck, news bureau director, commented about his perch on the platform above the press box, which was built late this summer as a special accessory to the stadium: "You get a beautiful view up there!"

Reshowings naturally allow the coaches to evaluate plays and players individually from specific viewpoints.

"It brings out our offensive and defensive mistakes," Johansen continued, "and shows us if a back took the right path, or if a blocker is pulling or what fouled up a pass pattern."

The project is financed by the Athletic Department, and the films are primarily for the use of the football team. Public relations use would be considered a major secondary use. Reels will most likely be dispatched with PR men when they make contacts with alumni, church or prospective student groups.

What? A Snap?

Equally important as the end results are the means by which they are attained. And the "ways and means" committee is headed by Richard Wiederanders, Physics Department, who is donating his time and services as photographer.

He has had previous training and experience in photography and teaches a course in that area. But taking movies has been a new experience for him.

Of his job, he says, "Any serious competent amateur could do it."

Present equipment includes only two lenses, a standard and a telephoto. The lens determines the area covered and the size of the picture. Whereas the standard lens gives a good picture around mid-field, the telephoto lens is designed for the far corners.

But He Went Thataway

Since the telephoto lens covers a smaller area and narrows the field of view, there is the risk of missing the play completely. Wiederanders admits that he sometimes gets faked out on a good play, too, and misses the ball.

"The normal lens covers up such mistakes," he added smilingly.

Having experimented on a small scale last year with football movies, Wiederanders had this to say about the progress of the present project: "For myself, I would like to get it worked down where we can get the best results for those in the Athletic Department, to help in studying and teaching the game of football."

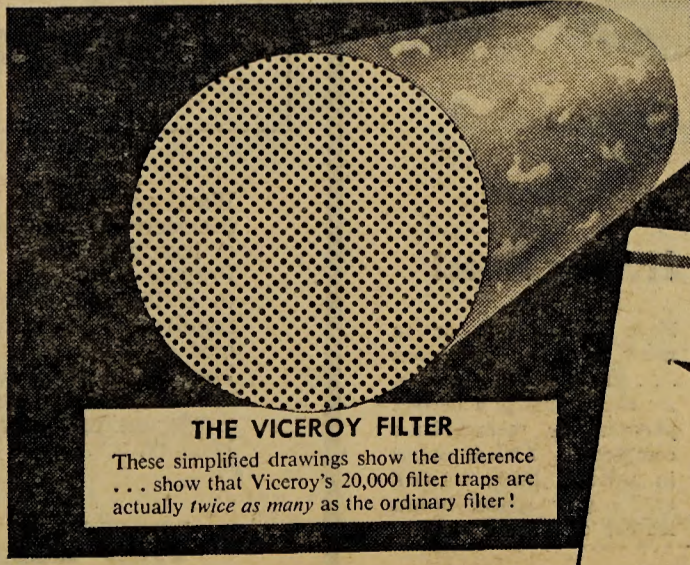

No, it might not be TV up there, but every Saturday afternoon you can be certain that the movie cameras will be grinding away.

Knights Lose To UIU — Meet Buena Vista Today

Looking For Second Win

The injury-riddled Wartburg football squad will take on the Buena Vista Beavers in an Iowa Conference battle this afternoon at 1:30 in Knights Stadium.

Marv Ott, freshman passing expert, will be on the sidelines for about three weeks, according to Coach Norm Johansen. Ott fractured the fibula bone in his right leg, it was learned earlier this week.

Sophomore halfback Chuck Nichol is still recuperating from a concussion received in practice a week ago, but will be ready for some action. Defensive standout Ron Krueger is hampered by a shoulder injury suffered last week at Upper Iowa, so will be available for limited service today.

Chief job for the Knights this afternoon, will be to stop the offensive thrust of the Beavers' star halfback, Jerry Ibach. The all-conference gridder has averaged 8.7 yards per carry in BV's first two contests. Ibach, a 180-lb. senior, is also a passing threat.

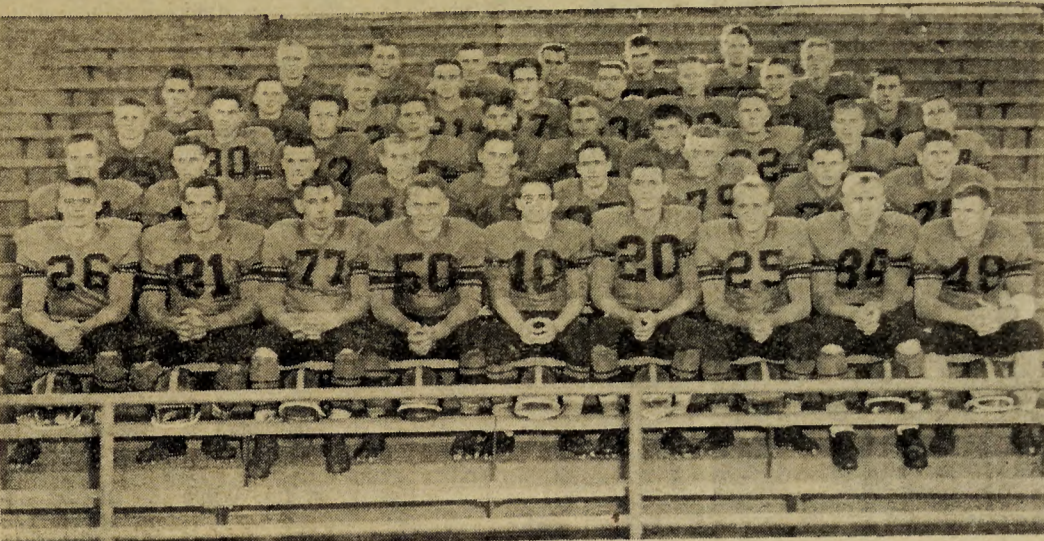

Last week Buena Vista dropped a 13-12 non-conference decision to Westmar, but the Beavers own a 1-0 loop record on basis of a 7-0 victory over Upper Iowa in their season's opener. The Knights were beaten 21-7 by the Beavers last year.

Marching Band In Debut Today

Wartburg football fans will get their first look at Ernest Hagen's marching band this afternoon during halftime ceremonies at Knights Stadium.

Marilyn Nissen, sophomore, will lead the band as drum major with freshmen Jane Holzen and Sally Downing performing as majorettes. Both Miss Holzen and Miss Downing have received state awards for baton twirling.

Jomen Smile For Camera

KNIGHT GRIDMEN take the fans' spot as the 1957 edition of Wartburg's football team poses for its first team shot of the year.

Score First, Lose 19-7

By Wilbur Flachman

Wartburg football squad struck for an early 7-0 lead, then gave way to a relentless second-half passing attack, to drop a 19-7 contest to Upper Iowa on the Peacocks' home field last Saturday.

Chuck Nichol, halfback, put the finishing touches on a 58-yard touchdown drive, with a one-yard jaunt around left end, to give the Knights their early margin. After Denny Krominga's conversion split the uprights, George Cabalka, hard-running Peacock fullback, returned the Wartburg kickoff 65 yards to the 28-yard line.

Peacocks moved to the four-yard stripe on five plays before Ron Krueger, guard, recovered a fumble, to give the Knights possession of the pigskin again. After the Jomen were forced to punt, the UIU squad rolled on a 33-yard pass play and a 15-yard keeper play by quarterback Bob Johnson. But once again the Upper Iowa backs dropped the ball and Arnie Brandt, guard, pounced on it on the three-yard line.

Following another punt, UIU took over at midfield and connected on a 50-yard TD pass play from Cabalka to Milt Mohs. Johnson booted the extra point, to knot the count at 7-7 before the teams retired to the locker rooms at halftime.

Terry Stevens took over the signal calling for the Peacocks and penetrated the Knights defense with aials during the third period. A 33-yard toss to Mohs set up the first score and another 15-yard heave produced the second counter as Upper Iowa opened up a 19-7 bulge at the three-quarter mark.

Knights drove deep into Peacock territory twice in the final quarter, but on each occasion the attack bogged down when they approached pay dirt.

Football, Bowling Roll On

Intramural bowling continued this week with Earnest Oppermann rolling a 501 for the high series and the high game going to Ronald Drenkow with a 191.

In football Grossmann III won over Grossmann II by a forfeit. North Hall downed Waverly Off-campus 25-19 and Zeta sneaked past Grossmann I, Basement and Vollmer 25-19 in a triple overtime.

The tennis tournament is also in progress, but no results are available.

Campbell Optimistic On Running Opener

An air of optimism was expressed by Coach Bob Campbell today as his cross-country crew prepares for the battle with the Norse from Luther College. The performances of starters Phil Moeller and Bill Riggle during the past week's practice session have been particularly impressive, with the rest of the squad showing signs of rounding into form.

Campbell announced the following lineup: Phil Moeller, Bill Riggle, Gary Moody, Gene Holden, Dick Cox, Bill Streng and Galen Eiben or Ulrich Columbus. Luther carries a 0-1 record into today's meet, having been previously edged by Mankato State Teachers.

80 Minutes For Kapers

"Around the World in 80 Minutes" is the theme for the 1957 Kastle Kapers, Homecoming variety show. The show, produced in conjunction with Homecoming events, will be given Friday, Oct. 25, in the Knights Gymnasium.

The international theme provides a medium for a variety of acts which will take the audience from Wartburg College, Waverly, to the several corners of the globe: London, Paris and Hong Kong. Tryouts for the show were held Tuesday.

Acts will include vocal solos, dancing and comedy routines. Stage settings will be of the type called "simplified realistic," or, in the language of the layman, "skeleton sets." There will be no curtain between acts. Any set changes will be made in full view of the audience.

"I'm trying to make the show as realistic as possible," said Loslo. "I'm going so far that I'm having one boy, for a Siamese number, shave his head like Yul Brynner."

Loslo expects one of the highest points in the show to be the ballet by Deniz Oguzlu.

Other events included in the Kastle Kapers program will be the judging for the beard-growing contest between the first and second acts, and the revelation of the 1957 Homecoming Queen.

AAUW Sponsors Senior Reception

Waverly Branch of the American Association of University Women will hold its annual reception for senior women from Wartburg and the local high school Wednesday, Oct. 9.

A skit will be presented at the reception, which will be held at 8 p.m. in Centennial Hall lounge.

Miss Isabel Eno of the High School English and Latin Departments is the chairman of the AAUW committee. Wartburg faculty members on the committee are Miss Margaret Wolff and Mrs. Lola Reppert. Seniors will see Miss Wolff, Miss Erna Moehl and Miss Perina Lohn, faculty members, among those acting in the skit.

More Improvement - Landscaping, Roads

Landscaping plans for Centennial have been completed this last week with the planting of some shrubs and trees. More work must still be done on the lawn. This was not done when the first wing was completed because of the necessity of adding another wing and the subsequent building process.

The street in front of Luther Hall has been paved with an oil emulsion treatment which is supposed to eliminate about 50 per cent of the dust from the traffic.

Visitors 'Invade' Campus Monday

Don't be alarmed if you see troops of "foreigners" ambling about the campus this week. Wartburg will be visited by three groups Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

In the vanguard will be the senior class from Plainfield High School, Plainfield. The Ladies Guild from Trinity Lutheran Church, Waterloo, will be Wartburg guests on Tuesday. The group may attend convocation. The Vilmar Ladies Aid, Vilmar, visited here Wednesday.

Sandberg Writes

Dr. Edwin T. Sandberg, English Department, has recently published an article on the introductory literature courses at Wartburg College in the Yearbook of the Iowa Conference of Teachers of English.

Part of a symposium written by instructors of nine Iowa colleges, Dr. Sandberg's article includes the content, emphasis and requirements of introductory English and American literature courses at Wartburg.

Administration Members Attend Many Meetings

Administrators were busy this week as they attended or planned to attend numerous meetings throughout the Midwest.

Dean John O. Chellevold will attend the 40th annual meeting of the American Council of Education. The conference will be held Oct. 10 and 11 in Washington, D. C.

Theme of the meeting is "Articulation—A Consideration of Desirable Relationships Among Levels and Types of Education to Insure Better Education for the Individual Student, Now and in Coming Years."

PR Travels

Norman Fintel and Fred Thompson, Public Relations Office, will travel to Excelsior Springs, Mo., where the Association of College Admission Counselors will meet Oct. 13 through 15 inclusive.

Fintel will speak tomorrow at the Wisconsin District Lutheran League convention. The rally will be held in Wausau.

Films of football at Wartburg and a general talk on the college will be presented by Fintel when he speaks to the Brotherhood of the First English Lutheran Church, Peoria, Ill., Oct. 14.

Starck Away

Kenneth Starck, Public Relations Department, attended a meeting of the Sports Publicity Directors from schools in the Iowa Conference at Des Moines Oct. 1.

John Turnbull, sports reporter for the Des Moines Register and Tribune, spoke to the group. The planning and organization of publicity for the conference was discussed.

President C. H. Becker will speak at St. John's Lutheran Church in Madison, Wis., tomorrow.

On vacation from the registrar's office is Miss Mattie Harms, who left for Lancaster, Pa., Thursday morning. While there, she will also spend some time in Washington, D.C. On her return trip she will stop in Chicago for a day, arriving in Waverly Oct. 14.

At least three ordained faculty members from Wartburg will attend the Waterloo Pastoral Conference of the American Lutheran Church at Oelwein Monday and Tuesday.

President Becker and Pastor Waldemar Gies plan to attend the conference on Monday, with Chaplain Edwin Schick representing the college on Tuesday.

Pastor Schick will also conduct two Bible studies at the Sunday School Teachers Institute of the Dubuque Conference of the ALC at Monticello Sun-

H. C. Engelbrecht, college business manager, will leave for Washington, D.C., Monday to attend the National Lutheran Council meeting, which will be held Oct. 8-9. From there he will go to Minneapolis, where he will speak at the National Convention of the Brotherhood of the American Lutheran Church, which is convening from Oct. 11-13.
